FOUR COLOR #656 dated Oct 1955, from the Hillsville Find.*

CGC Grade 5.0 Very Good/Fine. Off-White pages.

This is the 2nd and last Turok Son Of Stone appearance in Dell Publishing Co.'s Four Color series.

This is one of the most eye-catching covers in the early Turok books, with its graduated red color tones. Turok's next appearance was in his own comic Turok Son Of Stone #3 in 1956.

Aside from #3 which appears to have had a warehouse find, most of the early Turok comics are not easy to find above the grade of Very Good and only a handful in any grade have been graded by CGC.

Note about CGC's grading on this book: These 5 early Turok comic books that I'm currently offering on ebay are the first books I've had CGC graded. CGC is good for the comic collecting hobby, and I'm glad they use very tight grading but I have to say I think they undergraded all 5 of my books. I have been collecting comics since 1966 and collecting only high grade copies since the very early 1980s so I like to think my opinion carries some weight. I would grade this book a half-grade higher at least to Overstreet 5.5 Fine-. Many dealers would grade it a 6.0 Fine.

*This group of 5 Turok Son Of Stone comics came from the estate of a Dell comic book collector that had about 800 comics in it. I purchased it at the famous Hillsville, Virginia Memorial Day antique fair a few years ago. Most of the comics were the usual Dell westerns or funny animal types but there was also this little batch of nice condition Turoks. The original owner of this collection took excellent care of his comics with most of them having only light handling wear that comes from having been read only once. Most of them had off-white to white pages. I've long since sold almost all this collection and these last remaining 5 Turoks are the only ones I sent in for grading by CGC.
